Sarah wanted to get a job to save up money for her future. She did not want to keep asking her parents for money. She was still going to school, so she needed to find a part-time job. She could be a cashier(收银员), a waitress, or a cook. She decided that a cashier job would be most suitable for her. This was a job that seemed simple enough and she could learn. It would also let her communicate with people, which is her favorite thing to do.

Sarah did not have a car, so she wanted to work in a place that was close to her home and school. She walked around the restaurants and stores in her neighborhood and made applications to 10 different places. Her top choice was an ice-cream shop nearby.

Two weeks later, four places gave her calls for an interview. They were the ice-cream shop, a candy shop, a book store, and a coffee shop. They all seemed suitable for her schedule. She was one step closer to her goal.

Jack: Terry, how do you manage money in your family?

Terry: Well, in money management, I like to keep it simple. The simpler, the better. To tell you the truth, my brain goes empty when I go over numbers.

Jack: I agree. Well, can you share with our listeners some of the most basic tips?

Terry: I'd be glad to. First, let's talk about the ABC of how to manage our money.

A – Allowance (零花钱). Early on in our marriage, Mary and I have decided to keep some allowances for both of us—the money that we're free to spend any time.

B – Budget (预算). As a family, we need to make a budget. If you do not know how much money you need in a month, you can start keeping a record. For our family, this is how it looks:

10% = traveling

5% = giving

30% = savings

55% = spending

C – Communication. I believe that every giving, saving, and spending decision must be agreed on with my wife. This shows that we respect and honor each other.

Jack: Okay, now that we have the ABC for our listeners, do you have anything else to add? ...

36. Where does the dialogue most probably happen?

- A. At a wedding. B. At a party. C. In a radio program. D. In a bank.

37. What does Terry feel about money management?

- A. It is as easy as math. B. The simpler, the better.
C. The more basic, the worse. D. It is as lovely as marriage.

38. Who is Mary?

- A. Terry's wife. B. Terry's kid. C. A manager. D. A listener.

39. How much does traveling take up in Terry's family budget?

- A. 5%. B. 10%. C. 30%. D. 55%.

40. What does Terry mean by "Communication"?

- A. Giving his money to his wife. B. Discussing his marriage with Jack.
C. Sharing his ideas with listeners. D. Talking with his wife about the budget.

四、阅读补全(共5小题, 每小题2分, 共10分)

根据短文内容, 从文后选项中选出能够填入空白处的最佳选项, 并将答题卡对应位置上的标号涂黑。选项中有两项为多余选项。

Tidying (整理) is a difficult task, though it's quite satisfying once it's done. Actually, tidying is much easier when you know what you're doing. Whether it's regular tidying in the house or clearing out a room before moving house, it can be done. 41

42 Put together all the books, or all the rubbish, or all the clothes, or all the toys.

Tidy up specific (具体的) parts of the room next. 43 Work your way through these one at a time.

Gather things that you don't know where to put. 44 You keep picking these things up and putting them down again because you're not sure where they should go. When everything else is done, examine these things and decide where you're going to keep them.

45 One pile goes to the kitchen, another pile for upstairs and so on. Put these piles away last.

- A. These things are often the biggest problem when you are tidying.
B. Clear the floor, or the table, or the top of the ice box.
C. Make piles of what doesn't belong to this room.
D. You'll know when to throw the rubbish bag.
E. First, tidy up all the objects of the same kind.
F. There are many reasons to tidy a house.
G. Here is how to tidy a house.
